DEMOCRATIC

Two Aspirants for the Vice-Presidential Nomination.

JOHN R. M'LEAN WANTS THE PLACE

The Obio Editor Said to Have His Friends at Work - Representative Mc-Millin Also Mentioned for

Washington, June 26.-John R. Mc-Lean, proprietor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, wants the democratic nomination for the vice-presidency, it is currently reported. Those closest to him assert that a generous campaign contribution would be forthcoming. The convention references to McLean in Ohio, Kentucky and elsewhere are all clearly traceable to the influence of Senator Blackburn and other friends who would not work up a sentiment contrary to McLean's wishes. Any attempt to secure instructions for him for president is designed, it is asserted, merely to head off ex-Gov. Campbell of Ohio, and put McLean in for the second place. His candidacy would represent three ideas: outspoken support of free silver, hostility to Mr. Cleveland and his two administrations, and a big campaign fund. Another prominent candidate for the vice-presidency may be Representative McMillin of Tennessea. This candidacy, some of the democratic leaders assert, is especially likely to materialize if Senator Teller should be accorded the presidential nomination. Mr. McMillan, they say, would be a fitting complement to the ticket since he is the leading advocate of an income tax, which promises to be an issue hardly less a favorite at Chicago than free silver itself. Mr. McMillan is one of the few men in congressional life prominently identified with the low-tariff movement. which would be used to offset Senator Teller's protection record. Like Teller he is for free silver.

OPPOSED TO FUSION.

Attitude of the Populists as Set Forth by Senator Peffer.

Washington, June 26 .- Senator Peffer, pop., Kas., left for home last evening. Before starting he said concerning the populist attitude on the presidential campaign: "The recent pronunciamento of a few populist gentlemen at St. Louis, urging the democratic convention to nominate Mr. Teller was, in my judgment, an impertinence and reacherous so far as it attempted to speak for the populist party as a whole. These gentlemen spoke without authority from the populist party, and I do not believe the party will sustain them. They had not conferred with the party and had been given no commission to speak for it. Personally I have a high regard for Mr. Teller, but I have no idea that the old party spirit of the democratic organization will be so far relaxed as to bring about his nomination. In any event, I do not think ex-Isting conditions warrant populist endorsement of the democratic presidential ticket, even though the nominee is for free silver and the platform contains a positive free-silver declaration. I regard the integrity and perpetuity of the populist party as essential to carrying out the plan of reforms we have espouse l. The money question is but one of these. While the democratic convention doubtless will be for free silver, yet it will not be expressive of those other great questions of land tenure and of labor which the populist party regards as vital."

North Carolina for Silver.

Raleigh, N. C., June 26.-The democratic state convention yesterday, which was perhaps the greatest ever held in North Carolina, devoted most of the afternoon to speechmaking and there were scores of declarations for free silver in which two prominent federal officeholders, Ecvenue Collector Simmons of Raleigh and district attorney R. B Glenn of Winston, heartily joined. The platform adopted appeals to the people to sustain the Jeffersonian anti-centralization principles; favors independently of other nations free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold without discrimination of either at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1; condemns paying government debts in gold which were specifically made payable in coin and instructs the delegates at Chicago to advocate as a unit for the restoration of silver. The resolutions further declare in favor of a graduated income tax and oppose all monopolies and trusts. The resolutions are fervent in their endorsement of the state admistration. A resolution was adopted by the convention

AS A 4TH OF JULY ORATOR. Major McKintey in Great Demand-May Speak at Columbus.

Canton, O., June 26 .- Major McKinley is in great demand as a 4th of July orator. Invitations have been received asking him to take part in celebrations. Last evening a very strong delegation from Columbus, O., headed by Mayor Allen, called on Mo-Kinley and urged him to visit Columbus on the 4th, not as a presidential candidate, but as an old friend among his own people. It is proposed to have an old-fashioned muster and 4th of July celebration and it is expected that a hundred thou-and people will go to Columbus to participate in it." Major McKinley is strongly inclined to accept the invitation because it is from the capital of his own state, but he will not make a definite answer until Tuesday next. Preparations are being pushed forward on a vast scale for the entertainment of the Cleveland people, who are coming to participate in the ratification of McKinley's nomination to-morrow. Fifty thousand strangers will be provided for and it will be the largest ratification meeting ever held in this part of the country. Among the callers at the McKinley residence yesterday was Mrs. Robert Peer Fuller of Cheyenne. She told Major McKinley that she would vote for isim, and that he would receive the ballot of every woman voter in Wyoming. "The woman of the country like your quality of manhood," said Mrs. Fuller. "It appeals to us all. We believe in you, and you may be sure that the influence of the women of the United States will be exerted in your behalf." Col. Thomas Ochiltree cabled his congratulations from London last evening. Cotton Allen, the demoeratic mayor of Columbus, said- last night that he would vote the republican ticket if the democrats adopted a free silver platform.

CITY OF PHILADELPHIA.

The Missing Ship Was Probably Lost in a Storm on March 22.

New York, June 26.-The mystery of the missing ship City of Philadelphia has probably been solved by the report of the British bark Loch Bredan, which arrived at Liverpool from Iquique. The City of Philadelphia sailed from New York on February 2 for San Francisco with a general cargo, and has never been heard from since she was spoken on March 3, in latitude 14 deg. 56m. south, longitude 34 deg. 10m. west. Sixty guineas premium were paid this week on her insurance. Capt. Connell of the Loch Bredan states on March 21, in latitude 36 south, longitude 40 west, he experienced a heavy gale from north northwest, with a mountainous cross sea, which swept decks, washing everything movable overboard. On the morning of that date he sighted a full-rigged ship, distant two miles, under three lower topsails, rolling heavily. Next morning (Sunday) he sighted her again, the sea getting very dangerous and breaking on board over both sides. During the height of a terrific squall at midday the stranger was seen to lurch over and suddenly disappear, and although the captain of the Loch Bredan went aloit, he was unable to see her again. lie describes her as of about 1,400 tons, with a monkey poop. This description tallies with that of the City of I mladelphia, which was of 1,384 tons, and she would naturally be in just about the position specified at the time. The missing ship was built in Bath, Me., in 1875, and was principally owned by Walter F. Hagar of Philadorpina She carried a crew of thirty men, all told.

NOT A TRUE TESTAMENT.

Decision of the Jury in the Famous Holt

Will Contest. Washington, June 26.-The Holt will case which has been on trial in this city for several weeks, was closed at a late hour vesterday atternoon and at 8 p. m. the jury returned a verdict in favor of the caveators, the effect of which is to set the alleged will aside, or in the words of the decision of the jury, is substantially a declaration that the paner presented for probate is not a true testament. This case has been one of the most interesting of its character that has engaged the attention of the courts here for a very long period. The application for probate has been earnestly urged and as stubbornly resisted as any similar case ever presented in the courts of this district, nd able counsel on both sides have rought bitterly in the interests of their respective clients. The verdict has been looked for with more than usual interest in this community. The result leaves the case exactly where it was before a sudden anonymous presentation of the alleged testament reached the office of the register of wills sevcra months ago, and the heirs, who taxe had a desperate legal fight on the r hands, are to-day receiving the

Everything Ready for the 'Varsity Race This Afternoon.

CLOSE, EXCITING CONTEST EXPECTED

The Four Crews in Splendid Condition and Friends of Each Confident of Victory for Their Favorite-The Course.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 26.-Lowering skies, a chilly atmosphere and an occasional drizzle of rain makes the opening of the day of the great 'varsity race a dismal one. Even the enthusiasm of the coileg lads, who are packed like sardines in the hotels, is affected by the low barometer. Nevertheless, the wearers of college colors began early to show signs of the lively interest they take in their respective crews. Followers of the different crews are sure that their favorites will win, and wagers were made on college loyalty more than on the merits of men in the boats. Excellent arrangements have been made for viewing the race. An observation train of forty cars are in readiness. Seats are provided for 3,000 people. This train will start with the acing crews and follow them to the finish. The train runs on the West Shore track, from which no obstructed view of the course is had. On the river a fleet of excursion boats, private yachts, all kinds of water craft will occupy positions near the finish. United States revenue cutters Manhattan and Hudson will keep the steamers clear of the course. The steam yachts Walla Walla and the tug Susi, with two naptha launches will assign boats to anchorage positions and preserve order in the flotilla.

The Course.

Aside from the crowd on the train and the crowd on excursion boats, other crowds will gather on the river banks from which portions of the course may be seen to good advantage. The crews will be started opposite Crum's Elbow, a point on the west bank of the Hudson, three miles above the Poughkeepsie bridge. Four lanes marked by stakeboats are laid out. The positions drawn by lot, and num: bering from the west bank are: 1. Harvard; 2. Pennsylvania; 3. Cornell: 4, Columbia. At the mile and two-mile flags are placed stakeboats to mark the lanes. The bridge is the three-mile point. All four crews will pass under the second span. Above each lane is a huge square of white board, with a numeral to indicate the position of the crews. One mile below the bridge, the finish will be marked by sail boats anchored in the stream. From the three and a half-mile point to the fiuish the excursion steamers and yachts will be anchored well outside of the Columbia's lane. Should the water prove too rough this afternoon the race will be postponed until Saturday.

Grand Race Predicted.

A visit to the various quarters this morning elicited the fact that the representatives of the brawn and sinew of Harvard, Pennsylvania, Columbia and Cornell were ready and fit to row the race of their lives for the honor of their Alma Mater. There seemed to be an individual feeling amongst the men that not only would the race be the greatest ever rowed in American waters, but that the struggle would be one to call forth the most intense efforts, and that the issue would be in doubt up to the last moment. At Cornell's quarters the habitual reserve that characterizes the training of Couch Courtney was manifested, but uncerying was an air of satisfaction that indicated that the eight that carried the red and white 'colors were confident of a measure of success. Guy Richards, wno has helped coach the Columbia varsity in the unavoidable absence of Walter l'ost, was non-committal, but it is well known that all those concerned in the management of the blue and white crew tondly expect to see a repetition of last year's victory. The Harvard crew have done most of their work in a secret manner as was possible. The Harvard class of 71, on the occasion of followers of the crimson are very sweet on their chances, and the work of the eight since they came to Poughkeepste has given the utmost satisfaction to those who followed the doings of the Cambridge men. Good judges say that the 'varsity erew of '96 is one of the best crews turned out by Harvard for years. The pratice work of the Rennsylvania crew has been criticised somewhat unfavorably by the experts. Coach Ellis Ward, however, is by no means dissatisfied with the Quakers' showing. Columbia has the heaviest crew engaged. The men average 177 pounds, Harvard comes next with an average of 1701s, Pennsylvanua averages 167 5-6, while Cornell has the lightest crew of all, the Radicans averaging 161%.

TILLMAN ONE OF THE SPEAKERS

Resolutions Demanding the Adoption of a Free Silver Plank by the Democratic National Convention at Chicago Adopted.

New York, June 26. -The silver mass meeting at Cooper Union last night filled the large auditorium and all the available standing room was occupied. The audience was enthusiastic and applauded loudly every time an opportunity offered itself. Senator Benjamin F. Tillman of South Carolina occupied a prominent place on the platform and was cheered lustily when he entered the auditorium a few minutes before 8 o'clock. George P. Keeney, general organizer of the American silver organization, presided. There were several speakers including Senator Bixand Hon. Alexander Delmar, and then Senator Tillman stepped to the front of the platform. It took several minutes for the vast crowd in the auditorium to to get through cheering when Tillman was introduced. It was after 9 o'clock when the senator began speaking, and by this time the aisles were so full of standing people that it was difficult for one to get out and in. "Three cheers for the man with a pitchfork, yelled a man in the audience. The senator said he came from a part of the country from which many believed no good could come. Notwithstanding this he had received a welcome that touched him deeply. He began by paying his respects to the newspapers. He said that the night would give an opportunity to show the memhers of the audience that the newspapers were unconscionable liars. The owners of the newspapers, he said, were prostitutes of journalism, and not a paper in New York would dare to print his speech in full. The speaker said that although he had been much talked about and lied about, he had written his name on a page of South Carolina history in such a way that it would remain there always, Coming to the money question, he said: "If the Chicago convention does not give us democracy and return to the faith of Washington and Jefferson I will have nothing to do with it afterwards. The money question is up and has got to be settled. It is as important as was the slavery question, and if enough of you can get together to reverse the verdict of the two millionaire conventions you will deserve the thanks of the whole country." The senator said that if he were on the senate committee investigating the recent bond saie he would ask President Cleveland why he made the private contract to sell bonds at 10417 per cent, when they were selling on the public market at 117. The senator then talked about unemployed labor, which, he said, was a lever by which those employed were ground down to low wages. "You see on your own street car lines." he continued, "cars labeled U.S. Mail. Those cars don't carry any mail. They are on there so the car lines can claim the protection of the United States troops in case of a strike "Senator Tillman characterized John Sherman of Ohio as the high priest of Mammon and the foint owner with Hanna of McKinley. The speaker said as he sat down: "America for Americans and to hell with England and all other countries.' Resolutions demanding the free coinage of silver were then adopted and that Widiam P. St. John be requested, with a committee, which the chair shall ap-

DEATH OF LYMAN TRUMBULL. Brilliant Career of the Late United States

former United States senator, who died at his home in this city yesterday, was born in Colchester, New London county, Conn., in 1813. For more than sixty years his had been a life of ceaseless activity. He had been school teacher, lawyer, judge. He had played his part in politics—on the stump, in the halls of congress, in the deliberations of parties and as a non-combatant counsellor. In the beginning he was an anti-slavery democrat. As a republican he fought side by side with the immortal Lincoln and the men who founded the republican party of to-day. Then his party, as he thought, departed from its true mission and followed a line his conscience would not indorse. Resolutely he turned his back on his former associations and became a democrat. In the latter years of his life he parted company with that party. He took such a ground against the extension of power of the United States courts that he became the hope of the populists and, in a sense, their counsellor. Judge Trumbull's last appearance in a court room was made as counsel for the American Railway union officers before the supreme court at Washington. Judge Trumbull was twice married. His first wife was Julia Maria Jayne of Springfield, to whom he was wedded in 1843. She died in Washington in 1868. In 1887 he married Mary J. Ingraham of Saybrook,

Washington, June 26.-Miss Clara Barton, who has charge of the Red Cross relief work in Armenia, writes an interesting letter to a friend in this city under date of Constantinople, June 10, from which the following excerpts are taken: "I am glad to report that no obstructions are placed in the way of our men, and that they are regarded with favor and respect by all parties and persons with whom they come in contact. Physicians are few in these regions and medical skill at a very low ebb, and Dr. Hubbelli and his medical assistants have been called upon to treat in the families of the officials since leaving Alexandria. Their presence has been a great comfort to the missionaries stationed at the various points, most of whom had seen no visitors since the massacres. The co-operation and assistance has been mutual and most hearty. We hear only kind words and blessings on every side. The government here has neglected no opportunity of doing any favor which has been asked of it, both kindly and promptly. With the exception of poor Mrs. Mason, the health of every one of us has been excellent."

THE PROTOCAL OF '77

Spanish Senate Rejects the Motion To Denounce It.

44 NEMBERS AGAINST THE TREATY

The Subject Brought Up During Discussion of the Competitor Incident-History of the Agreement Between United States and Spain.

Madrid, June 26.—The senate. by a vote of 88 to 44 has rejected the motion made by Senator Comas last Monday, during the discussion of the Competitor incident, providing for an amendment to the royal address demanding the protocol of 1877 with the United States be denounced in view of the inequality of the rights of Spanish and American citizens under present

The reference is to a protocol signed on January 12, 1877, between Caleb Cushing, minister of the United States, and Don Fernando Calderon y Collantes, Spanish minister of justice, and relating to the trial of American citic zens by Spanish tribunals. In the chamber of deputies, the same year. Senor Collantes gave his understanding of treaty and protocol to be that the guarantee of trial of Americans by the ordinary tribunals did not extend to Americans "captured with arms in hands," who, he maintained, might be tried by "exceptional tribunals." It was under such interpretation of the protocol that the Americans captured in the Competitor expedition last May were tried by court-martial and condemned to death. Secretary Olney protested and demanded a civil trial for the accused men, under both the protocol of 1877 and the original treaty of 1795. It is doubtless the friction growing out of these rival interpretations of the protocol which has led to this effort to denounce it.

STEEL WOOL.

Steel wool is an interesting product. the subject of a recent German patent, and is intended for use in all cases where sandpaper, emery paper, pumice stone and materials of a kindred nature are employed. In bulk it resembles, both in appearance and to the touch, the hair commonly used for stuffing mattresses and chairs. The ordinary by-product known as steel shavings has for many years been used for rough work, in which the coarser grades of sandpaper are used; but the objections to the use of these shavings for the finer work of rubbing down tarnish or paict on woods and for polishing metals were the harshness of, and lack of uniformity in, the threads, and thereby cutting instead of polishing; and, being of many different sizes and shapes, would leave

The idea of making a machine to overcome these difficulties originated years ago in Switzerland with an observing German, who noticed painters gathering the refuse derived from the manufacture of reed for looms, and picking therefrom the finer grades for the use in rubbing down wood and metal work generally. Upon examination he found that his residue consisted of flat ribbons of steel, the borders of which were planed off, and before being essorted was an admisture of fine and coarse grades. He discovered two defects in the material; first, it was iml ossible to obtain any appreciable quant'ty of a uniform grade, and, second, the temper and quality of the steel were each that only indifferent results could Backache, headache and dizziness accompanied this, often so severe that they made me wild. I took medicine of all kinds for my sickness but I received little or no lasting relief until I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at J. E. Mills' drug store. Russian Thistle.

The so-called "Russian thistie," or tumbleweed," has found its way to the vicinity of Chicago, as it was sure to do sooner or later, and is causing no little annoyance to the farmers of northern Illinois and Indiana. It came, of course, along the railway lines with the stock cars, and great patches of it are now found on the outskirts of the city. It first got a foothold in this country over 10 years ago, having been brought by some Russian colonists who settled in the northwest. It soon took firm possession of the Dakotas, and began to sprend itself over a dozen other states and territories. It is a pest that prom ises to make more trouble than the Canada thistle ever did. Already it causes a loss of several millions annually to the farmers of the northwest, and its ravages are increasing every year. Thus far science has been appealed to almost in vain for some effective means of getting rid of this extremely unwelcome immigrant.—Harper's Weekly.

JUSTICE FIELD'S GREAT OAK. Said to Be the Largest in California and to Cover Several Acres.

Long before California became a part of American territory there existed in he vicinity of Monterey, and there still stands there after a half century of occupation, a wonderful specimen of the live oak indigenous to this state. It was a marvel to the Mexicans of those days, and was pointed out as one of the curiosities of the land to the few visitors to the coast.

Among those to whom the natural wonder had been shown in the days of Mexican domination was a young passed midshipman of the United States navy, whose ship bad anchored in Monterey bay. His name was Timothy Beals Field, and he is now long since dead. The midshipman belonged to a family whose members have been C-stinguished in science and business, in the pulpit and in literature, at the bar and on the bench of the supreme court. He was so amazed by the sight of the marvelous tree that he sketched it and wrote un account of it to his father, a elergyman residing among the Berkshire hills of Massachusetts. This incident was long forgotten. It was only last year, on the occasion of his visit to Cal.fornia, that the recollection came to the mind of Justice Stephen J Field. A party was made up. The tree was found. It proved to be even more extraordinary than as described by the young midshipman to his father.

After exploring its labyrinths, the carty returned to San Francisco. Soon after Justice Field went east on his official duties, and while there Mrs Field wrote an account of their visit to the tree which reads:

"Rounding the lagoon we saw ahead of us a large sandhill with a crown of green, and as we passed the hamlet of Seaside we learned that we were approaching our Meeca. A climb in the sand and up a few rickety steps brought as under the sheltering branches of the largest tree so far known to Califormans—not in height (though its beight is great), but in its capacity to shelter. I remarked that I thought 999 persons could stand comfortably beside me, but a learned man in our party said rather 5,000. Since the midshipman wrote of it the tree must have expanded varily. for it now covers more acres than one. Its trunk is not to be seen; the fine light sand has drifted in to the depth of 30 or 40 feet, and covered and protected this relic. Its branches remind one of the Laocoon; it seemed almost as if they not only could shelter, but would embrace us, too Each branch is the size of an ordinary tree, and there are numbers of them spreading out latitudinously, with other branches on these, shooting upward to the sun, the fol are being all on top and very dense.

"The tree is of the wriety known as the California live oak, quereus viren, its leaves are small, fresh and crisp, and of a vitatity unimpaired by years, and they do not fall with the seasons.

"It is said that no one has ever pet seen a leaf of the live oak unfold or fall. "The outside form of the tree is beautiful, Leing ent. rely circular, and as you sit under its shelter and admire you cannot but speculate as to its age; its gnarled and erool ed branches proclaim great ant quity, its lovely green perpetual youth.

"It may be added that ever since the rediscovery of the tree it is popularly known as 'Justice Field's oak.' "-Sau Trancisco Chronicle.

DAILY ARGUS.

C. MACARDELL. PUBLISHER.

THOMPSON, CITY EDITORS. MACARDELL, Jr., - Business Manager.

FRIDAY, JUNE 26, 1896.

The fact that of 900 young women, who applied for admission to the New York Normal College only five passed the examination in geography, suggests that the examination was unduly hard or that there is something radically wrong in the method of teaching this subject in 'the city's schools.

A change has been made in the editorial and business control of the Albany Argus. T. C. Callicott, the Nestor of Albany johrnalism, is now editor-in-chief and James C. Farrell, who learned the newspaper business under his father in the office of the Albany Times-Union, is busihess manager. Many changes and improvements will be made, and the Argus, It'is safe to say, will be more readable, There influential and more prosperous Than ever before.

All the delegates to the Chicago convention have been chosen and the Herald figures that 557 of them are for silver and 349 for gold. The apparent majority Th favor of silver, 208, is so large that there seems small reason for hoping that the men, who will battle for sound money, can snatch victory from defeat, but in a righteous cause aggressive leadership can accomplish much and Mr. Whitney has won victories against heavier odds than he will face next month.

The delegates who bolted the Republi 'can convention when it adopted a gold platform have been given royal welcomes on their return to their homes. Senator Cannon, of Utah, was greeted by 20,000 pëople at Ogden. Wednesday night, and at Duluth. Representative Towne was given such an ovation as no citizen ever before received. Mark Hauna and Maj. McKinley, as they read of these popular demonstrations, quake, tremble and wish that the convention had gone a little easy on silver.

A conference of anti-Platt leaders was held, last night, at Whitelaw Reed's home in New York city and it was unanimously agreed that the State McKinley Egague should take charge of the finan-'dial part of the campaign, for the reason that Platt's machine is untrustworthy. To cut off the "boys" supply of money for campaign use is striking the machine in its most vulnerable spot and it really looks as if the anti-Plattites had resolved To quit talking and get down to practi-'cal politics in their warfare against the Very interesting is the wrangle now in progress as to the authorship of the gold blank in the Republican platform. Mark Hanna, who seems to think it necessary that he should claim credit for managing Every detail of the convention, asserts that he and his confidential advisers prebared the platform that was adopted, before the Eastern delegates arrived. Sénator Lodge, however, asserts that the plank was written as he desired it and that the delegates from the East under Platt's lead compelled Hanna to aba don his plan for a straddle and to consent to an emphatic declaration in favor of the gold standard. In this statement Lodge is sustained by members of the Committee on Resolutions, and incidentally by what happened be fore the convention met and during its preliminary sessions.

ALL ON THE GOLD BASIS. From the Albany Argue.

Not a legal-tender silver dollar or its 'equivalent in silver coin has been struck for sixteen years at a European mint, Every country in Europe is either upon a gold basis or is trying to get upon a gold basis. In England silver is subsidiary. In France, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy and Greece the coinage of full legal-tender silver was suspended in 1578. Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland have practically taken their Fland upon a gold basis, and, as testified to by the director of the mint before the committee on coinage, weights and mensures in the Fi (v-third Congress, the only countries to-lay that maintain the unlimited coinage of silver are India, Japan, Mexico and the South American republics, excepting Venezuela, which has just adopted the gold standard.

. THE WORLD'S SUPPLY OF GOLD.

From the Albuny Argus, The amount of gold coin in use in all countries in the world, collectively, is $3,600,000,000. About one-third of the gold mined is used for coinage purposes. The value or gold coined in the United States is $600,000,000 against $800,-600,000 in France, $600,000,000 in Germany, and $550,000,000 in England. The gold production of South Africa, which was equal to that of the United States last year, will this year probably fall behind by $20,000,000, it the present rate of product is maintained.

following may be to the point: An honest farmer, a Democrat, taking his flock of sheep to the county fair. was arrounded by his Republican friends who asked him the price of wool, what he thought of free wool, etc. The man who led the attack upon my Democratic friend wore green spectacles and finally asked the farmer, how he could afford to keep his sheep in such good condition, to which he replied: "Though am a Democrat, these are Republican sheep. I turn them out in summer in rich pasture. When winter comes and the ground is covered with snow I put green spectacles on them and they go on eeding and do not know the difference.

Satisfied With Its Assessment,

It has been rumored on the street for several days that the O. and W. Railway Co. had another cause for complaint against Middletown, besides that of lack of appreciation by its business men and citizens, which was to the effect that its property was assessed our of propor-

ICE CREAM BY STEAM.

How the Delicacy Is Turned Out in a Big Factory.

Some Interesting Particulars Gleaned in a Visit to a Chicago Establishment -Fifteen Hundred Gaslons Made Daily.

There are no coal mines in Chicago. But if anyone is ambitious to know what it is like, they should visit an ice cream factory. There is one in a big, cavernous basement on Wabash avenue. The only means of reaching it is by the big, wet, soaking lift which carries the ice down. One stands on this, for there are no side bars or anything else to hold on by. The man at the ropes gives the order to "haul away," and slowly the big platform sinks into the black

There is a rush of cold air, darkness closes in, and there is just a momentary suspense as to what the outcome will be. It takes a steady nerve, too, for a pitch either way in the darkness would land one on his head in the damp, dripping cellar beneath.

The eyes soon become accustomed to the darkness, however, which proves not to be so dark after all. Dimly outlined on the water-soaked floor-for there is ice, ice everywhere—is a little railroad track for the box carts which carry the ice back and also bring the big freezers out. Piles of wooden casks and boxes reach to the ceiling on either side, making a parrow, dark passageway, suggestive of underground travel. But the prospect brightens and the pathway lightens and broadens out as the approach toward the front is made. Figures begin to loom up and the buzz of machinery increases into a roar. The light streams in from the glass sidewalk above, and here is where the ice cream is made. Five machines, run by electricity, are working at full speed, and five ten-gallon cans, filled with what is destined to cool many "parched" tongues, are revolving rapidly round and round.

Another great machine is noisily crushing great blocks of ice as if they were nut shells. Twenty-five tons of ice in one day is an average of what the big machine chews up, ready to be packed around the cans. One thousand five hundred gallons of cream, requiring ten wagons to deliver it, is considered a good day's business by one

Ice is indispensable at all stages and at all times in the making and handling of ice cream. First it is used in the freezing process, then the cans are packed in it to keep it while in "stock," and afterwards it must be delivered in ice to the customers.

Men stand watchfully at the wheels of the machine where the freezers are whirling, and by a peculiar skill, which comes only with experience, they can tell by the draft on the wheel exactly when the cream is "done." That is the term used to signify when the cream is frozen just enough. If it is allowed to freeze too long, lo! it turns out butter instead of ice cream. Sweetened butter it is, and a tribute at the same time to the genuineness of the article used in making.

But to go back to the beginning of the process. Lovers of ice cream may congratulate themselves that the largest proportion at least of what they eat is genuinely what it purports to be. Only about ore gallon of milk is the average use to ten gullons of cream. The amount varies somewhat, according to the thickness of the cream. One gallon of sugar also is the propor tion used to ten gallons of cream.

Men with long wooden paddles stir and mix this mass together thoroughly preparatory to the freezing. And, what seems rather surprising, it is all heat ed or steeped before it is put into the treezer. It is not boiled, but is allowed to come almost to the boiling point. The flavoring is added last, and varilla is used in every batch, it matters not what other flavor or crushed fruit is added. Tresh fruits are seldom used as they are said to contain too much water.

New York ice cream should be the most nourishing of all, as it has on an average seven dozen eggs to ten gallons of cream. These are added naw and are thoroughly steeped before

There is only one drawback to the thorough enjoyment of ice cream, and that is the amount of handling it undergoes before it is ready for use. A colored man, with an immense hand, in removing the revolving wheel from a can of cream the other day, used his hand to separate the cream from the wheel. Others transferred it to small er cans for customers. And others vet again were engaged in cuttting up the pink and white and brown slices into "individual" cakes for the service or nining cars. Not many people would care to eat the little square bricks after seeing them thus prepared.

One of the revelations of an ice cream factory is the fact that "stock" is some times kept on hand as long as three

When the cream comes from the freezer it is in a running mass about the consistency of a pancake batter. It : then poured into cans varying from one quart to five gallons, or the amount required to fill the day's orders. It happens often there is son Fielt over This is molded into bricks, wrapped in paper, put in tin boxes, and stowed

We publish herewith an engraving tak n from a photograph which was furnished to the Scientific American by Mr. Frank Minter, of Corning, Kan., which shows a wonderful fall of hailstones which occurred on the afternoon of May 3, at that place. Mr. Minter says the pan of hadstones was scooped up promiseuously half an hour after the storm, and in order to show the great size of the specimens, he had placed alongside of the pan an ordinary

When the photograph was taken they were a good deal smalle than when they fell. Some were found that measured 13 inches at their greatest circumference. The roar of the approaching storm could be heard for fully a quarter of an hour before it arrived. Scarcely any damage was done, except to chickens and will birds, and no less than 60 dead birdwere counted along one mile of hedge."

The English papers are full of stories of the late shah of Persia, some of which are probably true. When he was vis iting England he frequently expressed his contempt for the mildness of English law. So he was finally taken to Newgate in order that he might see the gallows. He at once manifested great interest in it, and, expressing a desire to see how it worked, asked the governor to hang a man. The governor explained that he had not at that time a man ready for the experiment, whereupon the shah expressed his contempt But he intimated that that was of no censequence, "Hang one of these," said he, pointing to his suite, each man of which probably trembled in his shoes, And very great indeed watcher shah's disgust when he found that he could not prevail upon the governor to do

HEAD OF THE OSTRICH.

Serves as a Weapon and Mas Eyes That Can Look Backward and Forward. As a matter of fact, the head of an ostrich is a very remarkable thing. The bird has been put together with the most ill-matched body, legs and head imaginable.

With its powerful legs it can overturn a horse. But its head is out of all proportion to the rest of its body, and is equipped in a very curious way to do the hard work required of it.

An ostrich's head is shaped very much like a steel hand punch.

It is usually about 11 inches long. made up of about equal parts of head and beak. The ostrich has no forehead, the top line of the long beak continuing to the back of the head. There are besides no projections from it of any kind. There is no nose, the bird breathing through holes in the beak. The ears are placed so far back of the head that they lap over the back of the head without projecting the fraction of an inch.

The head tapers from the knob at the back of the head to the point of the beak, and is so smooth that a blow would glance off without doing any damage. An ostrich uses its head as a weapon in fighting, and it can deal deadly blows with this curious, hammer-like justrument. The head is formed of bones which have no air cells like ordinary bones and are almost as hard as iron.

An ostrich's mouth or beak is capable of tackling any kind of food. The stomach of an ordinary able-hodied ostrich craves a diet of broken glass. stones, nails and similar appetizing very alert. Nothing escapes its attention. The eye of one of these wary birds is never covered by an eyelid. The ostrich keeps his eyelids carefully tucked away al! day and uses them only at night. The eye is so large and so exposed that it needs some protection, and so it has a bountiful fringe of lashes. These are enough to make any woman envious. They are more than an inch in length, and suggest fine lace awnings.—N. Y. World.

THE OLD, OLD STORY.

But the Red Seals Prevent Fraud.

One of the curious freaks of human nature is the insatiable desire to be noticed. If a man discovers or invents something which is a real blessing to mankind it brings him fame or reputation honestly earned, but immediately a lot of little heads come up and shout "Me too," "Notice me too," "Here, look this way look at me too.'

Nearly every other person one meets nowadays drinks the new hot food drink, Postum, the health coffee, and it is so well received that no doubt some "Me too" will begin to shout for some one to notice their cereal drink.

The physician who invented the promay imitate his discovery. "It is easy to brown some rye or malt and call it coffee cereal, but the public cannot be deceived. There is but one Postum Cereal food drink, and it cannot be imitated."

The genuine packages have large red seals containing the words. "It makes red blood., and manufactured by the Postum Cereal Co., lim., Battle Creek, Mich., and the contents are scientifically prepared to produce a pungent, piquant, and highly nourished drink, which certainly does make red blood, and round fat, happy bodies of the grown tolks and

"Just as good as Pestum Cereal" are words used to defraud the public.
